Ex-showroom Price ₹2,85,000 Offer 200+ bikes from more than 30 brands the price of Hero Xtreme has been revealed 200 R and it costs ₹89,900 (former Delhi Showroom). This is the price of all india. The Xtreme 200R has been priced less strongly than we thought it would be. The price of the bike is awfully close to pulsar NS200 and NR Apache 200. The catch here can be that the Xtrim 200 R hero will get better fuel economy. With this sticker price, MotoCorp Hero has a 200cc motorcycle that is available at the price point where many 160cc bikes sell. The bike was also displayed at the 2016 Motor Show. It was revealed in January, this year. R stands for Roadster. The hero is looking at performance now and is planning to get many performance bikes in 2018 and 2019.The Hero Xtreme 200 R has been based on xtreme 150, however, it gets a lot of changes. The design is now upgraded. Even the new 200cc engine has derived from one 150cc. Although the hero is getting new bikes, we believe that the launch operations are being delayed. Other manufacturers are bringing new models faster. As a measure of adding more value to its portfolio, the Xtreme 200 R can be a good choice for Indian consumers. There are many features on offer such as dual LED strips on the headlight, LED tail lamps and even a single ABS channel. The new Xtreme 200 R pricing should be similar to PulBajars NS 200 and the other bike will be tvs Apache RTR 200.Also read hero Xtreme 200R ReviewHero Xtreme 200 R price in IndiaEx-Showroom PriceWorks 89,900.00On-Road PriceWorks 1,03,000.00 prices have been revealed only at prices under Pulsar. The hero was looking to undermine the Bolar and Apache and offer a more affordable bike. The downside is that it's not as strong as other 200cc bikes either. The hero's Price Xtreme 200 R at about ₹89,900 (former showroom) is very close to the other too. The new Xtreme 200 R is not really that great value for money offer. Hero Xtreme 200 R launch dateNew bike is now available in showrooms. MotoCorp champion has offered the final version of the production of this bike. Now it is only pricing that has been excluded. This bike will have one ABS channel and this is the first bike hero who has a radial background And a unilateral comment too. This makes the bike attractive in this part. MotoCorp hero will be getting more performance bikes in the near future. Champion Xtreme 200 R DesignIn Design Terms Xtreme 200 R does not look huge by any means. There are some extra bits that make it bigger than the Xtreme 150, but nothing major. The Pulsar and Apache are even wider and seem bigger. This bike has a regular lamp and two lamps on top. There's a small windshield. The front looks similar to Xtreme. The front bumper usually has a different color. For example the black bike had a silver handrail. The side is where the changes took place. There's a fair little bikini on the side. This makes Xtreme look wider and muscular. Then there is a small gallery on the fuel tank. Apart from that is the same looking bike as the 150cc version. The step seat is reduced to tall and more elegant passengers for better comfort. The rear frame is now thicker and it is radial. This is the first time Hiro has provided a radial frame on his bike. The black alloy wheel is offered as a standard on both variables. Even the brake disc is a standard feature. The other important aspect of this bike is its performance. There is a lot of post stickers on the bike. Xtreme One is clearly quiet. The Badging 200 r is also visible. Dry mass 137kgs, which means without fuel, oil etc. The seat height is about 790mm and the wheelbase is 1338mm. Its dimensions are not much different from the 160cc bike. Although it has better performance. Hero Xtreme 200 R SpecificationsEngine199.6ccPower18 bhpTorque17.1NmTransmission5-speedFuel Tank12.4 litresBattery12VTransmission TypeConstant MeshClutch ClutchClutchIn specification terms, Xtreme 200 R comes with 199.6cc single cylinder, air cooling engine. This mill has been derived from the 150cc engine investigator. This is designed to improve both performance and mileage. It produces 18.4PS of power and 17.1Nm of peak torque. That's not the best part. Other bikes with 200cc offer more on paper. We still have to ride a bike to come to any conclusion for himself. This engine will come mating to a five-speed transmission. This engine is carbureted and not fuel injection. It does 0-60km/h in 4.6 seconds. This bike has a fuel tank of 12.4 liters and 167mm of ground disinfection. It won't be as fast as pulsar NS 200 and RRT RTR Apache 200. It should cost even less than two. The hero will want to attract a buyer with a budget of more than 160cc, who may not be able to buy 200cc Bolar or Apache.Hero Xtreme 200 i MileageThe Biggest Question - Kita Diti Hai? The company claimed the number for this bike is 39.9km/l. In The real world, this bike should be returned somewhere in the range of 30-32km/l. This should be suitable for a motorcycle with this displacement. Wonder why iSmart is not included on a bike of this caliber. It also does not hinder performance and still improves mileage. This bike is suitable for those who are tight on the budget and this would be a good reason for them to pick up the Xtreme 200 R.Hero Xtreme 200 R tires and suspension tires on the bike are no tube this time. The size of the front tires is 100/80-17 and the rear is 130/70R17. The background of one radial thus R is a signal in it. The rear suspension is mono. The front is a traditional Dia 37 fork. This is the thicker every show on the hero motorcycle. Read also: Bajaj Pulsar NS 200 Review | TVS Apache RTR 200 4V ReviewSo How good is the Xtrim 200 R hero? If you need the performance of this bike, then maybe this may not be the most convenient bike. This is a bike for those who need 200cc but on a tight budget. It will offer decent performance and mileage. Where it will shine is network areas where other brands do not exist and Hero gets the advantage of closing the service center. Now, we still have to ride the bike, but so far this is what the scenario looks like. This is the company's first step in the direction of performance cycling. We expect more sophisticated products in the coming days. The Xtreme 200R is the first hero's attempt at 200cc space, which is currently dominated by the likes of Apache RTR and Yamaha FZ. The 200R, as the name suggests, features a 200cc engine, based on a 150cc unit in completion. Moreover, the 200R being an affordable 200cc rendering lacks some features such as LED headlights or a fully digital instrument set. Besides, the 200R lacks a little character, which is fairly mandatory for bikes in this part.
